

Photos by Peter C. McCusker • The Post

GRACE-FUL COMEDY • The stage comedy Saving Grace opens a new season of theatre for The Aldershot Players this weekend. Directed by Sam Sadawi, the local production features, above, from left, Heather Hunter as the title character and Steve Fletcher as Walter. The play finds Grace caught up in a series of events that don't exactly go the way she wants, but do result in much laughter for the audience. In one scene, Walter finds himself alone on a love seat, above left, after unsuccessfully lunging at Grace. The show opens tonight (Friday) at West Plains United Church and continues tomorrow, with additional presentations on Oct. 19-20 and 25-26. Tickets, which include dinner and the show, cost $29. To reserve tickets, call 905-637-7629.